

The Hidden Treasure in Life of Love

By: Abby Baier

*"L is for the way you look at me
O is for the only one I see
V is very, very extraordinary
E is even more than anyone that you adore can*

*Love is all that I can give to you Love is more than just a game for two
Two in love can make it
Take my heart and please don't break it
Love was made for me and you"*

Love is a beautiful gift given to us by God. There is a hidden treasure in love that not many know though. Love in itself is a journey. We first experience love the minute we are born and our parents get that huge smile on their faces. Even though the smiles may go away when they get mad at us, while we are growing up the love of our family never goes away. We don't always think we feel the love, but maybe that's because we are trying to feel the wrong types of emotions in love.

Love isn't just when we first meet that boy or girl that plants a smile on our face and butterflies in our stomach. True love is seeing the good and the bad in everyone and still loving them unconditionally, through every stage in life. It's getting married and vowing to spend the rest of our life with that one person through sickness and in health, through good times and in bad, for richer or for poorer. Love is getting through the fights and realizing how lucky we are to have that person in our life, because one day they might not be there. People feel bursts of love when they fall in love and get married, but no one knows what true love feels like until they become a parent and their baby grasps their finger in their tiny hand. Here we realize that with the treasure of love we have received our whole life we can now transfer to our child.

The treasure of love doesn't just hit us at the good times in our lives, however. The moments when love comes into our lives the most is during the most difficult times, such as death. When experiencing the death of a loved one the treasure of love kicks in to get us through the difficult time with the closure that they are now in a better place. We see love in so many ways and through all the ways we should realize that love is one of the many treasures of life. It may seem like it is not a rare treasure but look at the world around you, not everyone is as loved as you. Be thankful for the hidden treasure of love.
